Policies and Adjustments

Policy

To qualify for most financial aid programs, a family must demonstrate 'financial need.' Financial need is the difference between the cost of your education and the amount you and your family are expected to contribute to your education, as determined by the Financial Aid Office from the information you supply when you apply for financial aid.

The basis of the calculation is a combination of the federal formula called "Federal Methodology" and "Institutional Methodology." The formulas consider both the income and assets of the family. The data needed for the analysis is collected from the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) and the IWU Financial Aid Application or the CSS PROFILE. The Financial Aid Office determines the accuracy and reasonableness of the data by comparing it to the tax return information. Separate contributions toward the cost of education are calculated for the student and the parents. The two combined contributions constitute the expected family contribution.

An appeal is a request for a re-evaluation of your financial aid eligibility due to changes in your situation from the time you applied for financial aid. When considering your appeal, the Financial Aid Office takes into account the availability of funds, the timeliness of your original application for financial aid, the timeliness of your appeal, and the nature of the change in circumstances. Appeal decisions are subject to Federal, State, and University regulations.

Funding and Financial Aid Adjustments

Due to limited availability of assistance, approved appeals may be funded with IWU, State, and/or Federal grants in addition to student loans. Regardless of circumstances, additional awards may be provided only if money is available at the time your appeal is reviewed.

How to Appeal the Family Contribution

You may complete the enclosed questionnaire including an appeal letter which details your change in circumstances. Please also include any supporting documentation with this form and return the requested information to the IWU Financial Aid Office.
