

Career Dreams

Directions: Before you write about each situation below, close your eyes for a moment and visualize the scene. If you need more space for writing, use the back of this page.

Imagine where you will be working fifteen years from now. You arrive at your place of employment. Look around. Is the building simple or a modern skyscraper? Are you in a hospital, school, an office complex, or someplace else?

Describe where you work:

You are now ready to begin working. What is your job? Are you supervised—or are you the boss? Do you feel good about your job? Are you pleased with what you have accomplished?

Describe your job:

Your work day is over. As you head home, you think about your life: What do you have that's special? What else would you like to have—or accomplish? Do you feel successful or dissatisfied? Who will you be ten years from now?

Describe how you feel about your life:
