

About the Authors

Peter Raatz

Peter is a Political Science Major and Religion Minor from Lakeville, MN. His submission, "Corruption's Hold on the Economy: An Examination of the Causes of Economic Development," was written for his senior seminar course this year. Peter is a member of Pi Sigma Alpha. He wishes to thank his professors and mentors for all their advice and tutelage and dedicate this work to his family for their love and support.

Kathleen Frawley

Katie is a double major in Political Science and Economics from Oswego, New York. She is a member of the Pi Sigma Alpha, as well as a captain of the 2006 Titan Softball Team and co-president of the Student Athlete Advisory Council. Her paper was written for Dr. Tari Renner's American Politics Senior Seminar in the Fall of 2005. After graduation she will be attending American University's Master of Public Administration Program and actively searching for jobs in the DC area.

Sherri Haas

Sherri is a graduating Senior with majors in Political Science and Economics. Her paper was written for Dr. Munro's International Politics Senior Seminar in the Fall of 2005. She is a member of Pi Sigma Alpha and has participated in Model United Nations, the American University Washington Semester, and has interned for a local legal services agency. She is the recipient of the 2006 Political Science Department Award.

Timothy (T.J.) Wessel

T.J. is a senior Political Science and Business Administration major. His favorite courses of study include Congress, American Elections, Community Action, Schools and Sects of Political Thought, and Business Law. His political interests include farm policy, gun control, state elections, public opinion, tort reform, and environmental politics. He hopes to attend law school and to become a prosecutor, with future plans of running for office.

Sarah Mysiewicz

Sarah is a senior Political Science major with minors in English Literature and Women's Studies. Her paper was written for the American Politics Senior Seminar under Dr. Renner in the Fall of 2005 and revised for submission to Res Publica. She is currently a member of Pi Sigma Alpha and a lab assistant in the Social Science research laboratory.

Anthony Reinhart

Anthony is a senior Political Science and History double major with a focus in foreign affairs. He participated in the Washington Semester and the DIS European Politics program in Copenhagen, Denmark. His paper was written as part of his American politics studies while at American University in the spring of 2004. He is a member of Pi Sigma Alpha, Phi Alpha Theta, and Phi Beta Delta. He will be commissioned as a Lieutenant in the Marine Corps after graduation.