

Nominating Committee Written Report
General Faculty Meeting
February 6, 2012

N.C. wishes to thank all who responded to the mock election ballot sent out in January, testing Survey Monkey as a possible platform for electronic balloting in future faculty elections at IWU. The committee was pleased with the relative ease of designing, collecting, and analyzing ballots using Survey Monkey, as well as the security features the software provides. Of the 192 eligible voters 87 responded to the survey. Needless to say, there were some very interesting write-in nominations! More importantly however, there appeared to be considerable support for moving ahead with both electronic voting and in changing the status of Faculty Secretary, from an elective to an appointive office.

N.C. is therefore proposing constitutional language at February faculty meeting (to be voted on at the March 5, 2012 meeting) to facilitate these changes. Also, please be thinking about what university service committees you might be willing to serve on during the AY 2012/13. Electronic preference forms for elective and appointive offices will be distributed via E-mail later in February.

Respectfully yours,
Robert C. Delvin, chair
Nominating Committee
