Learning Disability(ies) Verification

Disability Services provides academic accommodations for students with learning disabilities. To determine eligibility, the student must provide the documentation listed below from a qualified professional.

1. A complete psycho-educational, neuro-psychological, or neuro-educational evaluation (completed within the last 5 years) and a report that includes:
  - Comprehensive background information, including a developmental and educational history
  - A review of any past evaluations and services received
  - The diagnosis(es)
  - The impact the disability has on academic performance
  - Recommended accommodations pertinent to the evaluation/testing results
  - The following assessment measurements:
    - Aptitude - A complete adult aptitude assessment, including all subtest and standard scores, is required
      - The preferred adult aptitude test is the Wechsler Adult Intelligence Scale, WAIS-III or IV
    - Individual Achievement - Testing must include standard scores for all subjects assessed
      - The preferred individual achievement test is the Wechsler Individual Achievement Test, WIAT-II or III
    - Information Processing - Measures should assess areas such as short and long-term memory, sequential memory, auditory and visual perception, and processing speed
2. If a student has received special education services through their K-12 school district, the most recent Individualized Education Program (IEP) and Multidisciplinary Conference Summary (MDC) or 504 Plan must also be provided.
