Welcome!

We are happy to have you here at Illinois Wesleyan University! We want your experience to be both rewarding and challenging. This handbook is designed to give you an overview of the general expectations for student employees and for the employee supervisors. Some IWU students work in more than one position, in more than one office, and each role may have a unique approach to addressing specific policies. However, it is important for everyone to become familiar with the general policies within this book.

Section 1: Overview

Introduction

Illinois Wesleyan University provides several part-time work programs for our students. The federal financial aid program, commonly known as Federal Work-Study (FWS). The institutionally supported programs we call, No Need Job Opportunity or International Student Job Opportunity. A student can also be hired as an hourly employee, on a part-time temporary status.

The Student Employment Program at Illinois Wesleyan University are designed to help both students and the departments who employ them. Students in need of financial assistance are given the opportunity to earn part of their educational expenses. The programs provide an opportunity for students to gain skills and knowledge that may aid them after graduation.

This handbook is for both students and supervisors. It will answer many of the questions that you may have regarding student employment, and if working on campus you will be held responsible for all of the information in this handbook.

General Rules for Student Employment

1. Must be a current IWU student.
2. I-9 (Employment Eligibility Verification): All IWU “first-time” student workers must meet the requirements of the Immigration and Nationality Act as amended by the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986. It requires that the I-9 form be completed within 3 days of starting work. The law also requires that the employer review and verify a document or documents that establish both identity and eligibility for employment. Several documents may serve these purposes. Please refer to page 2 of the I-9 form for a list of acceptable documents or this link has a complete list of acceptable documents you can present for verification. In short, you will need either one from list A (i.e. Passport) OR one from list B (Driver’s License or School ID) along with one from list C (Social Security Card or Birth Certificate). Please note that documents must be the original, with the exception of the birth certificate which may be a “certified copy” with a raised seal of authenticity. Unfortunately, photos, copies, screen shots and faxes cannot be accepted. If it’s been 3 years since completing an I9 and the student took a leave of absence for more than one year, a new I-9 must be completed. Returning student workers are not required to complete employment forms again.

3. Electronic Timesheets & Web Time Entry (WTE): Students are expected to clock in/out at each shift using Banner Web Time Entry (WTE). It is required by law to take a 30 minute lunch break if working over 7 hours and it MUST be indicated on the timesheet in case any auditor asks for documentation. Students are required to submit their timesheets electronically by the due date/time listed on the timesheet. A work week is Sunday to Saturday. No student may work for more than 8 hours a day, or 20 hours a work week when school is in session.
4. Note for International Students: Individuals in a variety of non-immigrant statuses may legally work in the United States. Some require an Employment Authorization card (EAD), while others do not. Individuals with F-1 (student) visas may work on campus. Please contact the International Office at internationaloffice@iwu.edu or (309) 556-2770 for any questions regarding requirements and restrictions for working. SUPERVISORS: Additional information on hiring International Student Workers is available in the Appendix.
5. The student must be in good academic standing: Students who are enrolled in courses, on campus, and are making academic progress toward completion of a degree are eligible to be student employees. Their employment is part-time, and is contingent on their enrollment and on their continued academic progress. Student employment status terminates immediately when enrollment does not meet the above stated guidelines.

Student Employment Award Overview

Please note: Any employment opportunity awarded in one's financial aid package, is not a guarantee of a job or funds.

Federal Work-Study (FWS) Opportunity – The Federal Work-Study Program was created under the Federal Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to provide part-time employment for college students who qualify determined by the results of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Because of the title of this employment opportunity, students may think that they will be paid to study while at work at their student employment position. This is not true. The program was designed to give students the opportunity to work so that they can afford to attend college to study. Therefore, students with this type of award will have the same expectations to perform tasks while at their employment position as with all other students that are awarded an employment opportunity. This employment opportunity award is based on financial need and is subsidized by the Federal Government making it available only for the academic year. Students with this award can be employed at an on-campus position or at an off-campus community service site and earn wages up to the amount stipulated by the employment opportunity award in their financial aid package.

No Need Job Opportunity – This employment opportunity award is not based on financial need and is awarded to first-year students during the admissions process. It is financed directly from university departmental budgets and available only for the academic year. If the employment opportunity is awarded and not used during the first year of enrollment, the student will not receive the employment opportunity award in future years.

International Student Job Opportunity – This employment opportunity award is based on financial need as determined by the results of the CSS Profile and is awarded to first-year students during the admissions process. It is financed directly from university departmental budgets and available only for the academic year. If the employment opportunity is awarded and not used during the first year of enrollment, the student will not receive the employment award in future years.

Additional Types of Employment

- Resident Assistant and Sodexo Student Manager Positions – Returning students have the opportunity to work as a Resident Assistant or Sodexo student manager, but cannot do both. Choosing to work either of these positions replaces the student employment opportunity award (if eligible) in your financial aid package. If you choose to take one of these positions, you will receive either free housing or free food as payment, making it against university policy to participate in the student employment program. However, if you are an R.A. or a Sodexo Manager and are requested to work at a position based on your specialized skills, the department supervisor must go through the appeal process to seek approval.
- Payroll – Supervisor Appeals and Open Positions
 1. Supervisor Appeals
 - A limited number of students, not awarded an employment opportunity, who possess specialized skills needed for specific positions, may be approved to work on campus. These positions include, but are not limited to: foreign language tutors, department tutors, lab assistants and athletic trainers. These positions are not guaranteed and must be approved by the Student Employment Advisory Committee. Supervisors are required to complete the appeal process. Approval is for that school year only (it must go through the appeal process each year).
 - Please note: Priority of available employment positions is given to students with an employment opportunity in their financial aid package during the school year. Because of this, all payroll positions require the supervisor complete the appeal process and to be approved through the Student Employment Advisory Committee before students will be allowed to start working. Supervisors please review the section on the Appeal Process.
 2. Open Positions
 - Positions open to all IWU students regardless of financial need.
 - The positions include Sodexo Food Services, Titan Callers, game workers, track meet workers and lifeguards.
 - Generally, “open” positions are not considered for work-study earnings, but in some cases, could be. Please contact the Financial Aid Office with specific questions.

Job Placement

- Illinois Wesleyan University does not place students in student employment positions. Employment is considered “at-will.” A current inventory of available jobs, is maintained online on our website here: <https://www.iwu.edu/financial-aid/jobs/all/>. The contact information of the hiring supervisor and how to apply is available within each job posting. Students are expected to conduct a job search until they find a position. We recommend that students identify a job that interests them and then contact the designated person to schedule an interview.

- Community Service Positions (FWS) - The regulations for the Federal Work-Study (FWS) Program require that a certain percentage of an institution's Federal Work-Study funds be spent employing students in employment positions that provide community service. These funds are subsidized by the Federal Government and are only eligible to students that are awarded a need-based employment opportunity. Therefore, only students who are awarded Federal Work-Study Opportunity in their financial aid package are eligible to apply for these positions.

*Students who are awarded a No Need Job Opportunity or an International Student Job Opportunity in their financial aid package are not eligible for Community Service positions because their employment opportunity award is not federally funded.

Currently, the following community service sites employ IWU students through the Student Employment Program:

- Bloomington Public Library: A variety of positions are available including the circulation desk, interlibrary loan, and the children's room. The library is approximately 1 mile from campus.
- America Reads Program: IWU students can participate in this program at several local schools that serve as our America Reads tutoring sites. At these sites, IWU students help young children develop language skills necessary for beginning reading development. Illinois Wesleyan University students will tutor elementary and/or middle school students in reading activities. This is a unique opportunity for students to combine community service with paid work, while assisting children in gaining the skills so important to education and success in their futures. A mandatory training session is provided on campus for this employment position. Illinois Wesleyan University student employees will also need to have a background check performed as well.

Length of Employment

The Student Employment Program operates year round. The length of employment is determined by the award/allocation, the needs of the employer and the student's own schedule.

Under current laws, student workers are not eligible to receive unemployment compensation after their employment ends. Students filing for unemployment compensation on the basis of having worked at Illinois Wesleyan University will have such claims rejected.

Section 2: Payroll Information

Electronic Timesheet Procedure/Web Time Entry (WTE)

Students may start working only after the request to hire has been approved by the Student Employment Coordinator and a timesheet is available on the Student's Employee Dashboard. Students must clock in and out each time they work using Banner Web Time Entry (WTE). Effective dates of beginning of pay periods are available here: Payroll Calendars and Deadlines. Students and supervisors are required to complete the electronic time sheet every pay cycle. Supervisors are responsible for checking the time sheet for accuracy. Students are required to submit their timesheet to their supervisor, prior to the due date/time listed on their timesheet. Supervisors are required to approve timesheets, no later than the date/time listed in Banner. The Payroll Office will not issue a paycheck if the timesheet is not properly authorized and not received on time. Students receive their paycheck via direct deposit to their bank account (preferred method) or at the Business Office cashier window on the 10th of the following month. Contact the Business Office (busnoff@iwu.edu) for questions about timesheets, direct deposit and payroll processing.

Required Employment Forms

All students who would like to work on campus, are required by law to complete a I-9 Form, Federal W-4 Form and IL State W-4 Form before they can be authorized to start working. Students are also required to present documents that verify both identity and eligibility to work in the United States. We also ask that students complete an Acknowledgement of Mandated Reporter Status Form (DCFS Form). These forms need to be completed only once during their academic career at Illinois Wesleyan University if they continue working every year.

The Internal Revenue Service requires that W-4 forms be completed by all employees to determine the correct amount of income tax to be withheld from your pay. If your name or address changes, or if at any time you would like to change the number of allowances you are claiming, a new W-4 form must be completed to update this information. If you claim exempt from withholding on the W-4 form, you will be required by law to complete a new W-4 form each calendar year as long as you continue to claim to be exempt from withholdings.

Wage & Earnings Information

1. For the 2025-2026 students employed with Sodexo Food Services will earn $13.50 per hour, all other campus positions are paid $12.75 per hour.
2. Students will be paid once per month September-May.
3. Federal guidelines limit the amount you may work over your employment award amount. If you have a job awarded and you are ahead or behind the amount you should be earning, you may want to talk to your supervisor about making adjustment in the number of hours you are scheduled to work.
4. Your earnings will be evaluated after your final pay date in April and if you have significantly exceeded your employment award amount, your financial aid could be reduced in accordance with these guidelines. If your financial aid is reduced, your account in the Business Office could be affected.

5. No student may work for more than 8 hours a day, or 20 hours in a week when school is in session, between all jobs worked on campus. A week is considered Sunday to Saturday for all workers.

Paychecks and Direct Deposit

Paychecks can be directly deposited to your bank account (preferred method) or paychecks can be released directly to you.

If you would like to have your check directly deposited to your bank account, you will need to complete a Direct Deposit form, which is available in the Business Office or on the Business Office page on the Illinois Wesleyan University website under Payroll Forms. If you choose to have your paychecks released directly to you, checks will be available for pick up at the Business Office cashier window in Holmes Hall. You may be required to show ID to verify your identity before the check will be released. September-May. Paydays will be on the 10th of each month or the Friday before, if the 10th falls on the weekend. In the summer, paydays are bi-weekly. A copy of the payroll calendar is in the Appendix and on the Business Office website under Payroll Calendars and Deadlines. Paychecks not picked up will be mailed to the student's home address on file.

W-2 Wage and Tax Statement

W-2 forms, which report the employer's yearly summary of withholdings for tax filing, are sent from the Business Office on or before January 31 of the following calendar year. You will be given the option to receive the form by e-mail or through the mail. You are responsible for reporting this information on your federal and state tax returns. The W-2 statements are also available in the employee's Banner Self-Service > Employee Dashboard > Taxes > W-2 Wage and Tax Statement. International students may be required to complete a non-resident tax return. Please visit the International Office for more information.

FICA Exemption

FICA taxes are not deducted from a student's earnings (for a student who meets the definition of student employee) during the academic year. FICA taxes will be deducted from students' paychecks from May-August

FWS & Earning Limits

Based on your financial need, you will be assigned either full- or partial- year employment eligibility. Full-work study, $2400 (or $1200 per semester or 94 hours each semester). Partial-work study, $1200 (or $600 per semester or 47 hours each semester). You have the opportunity to earn up to this amount during the academic year. The amount of your employment award listed in your financial aid package is based on gross earnings.

Work in some departments may be cyclical, meaning that certain times of the year are busier than other times. Students may be required to work more during busy times and then asked to work fewer hours during the not busy time. Please work with your supervisor to balance your hours as to not work more than your job opportunity award amount. At no time are students permitted to work over 20 hours in a work week (Sunday-Saturday) while school is in session.

Occasionally, a student will be requested to work a specialized employment position beyond the maximum amount of hours they are allowed to work based on their award. The hiring supervisor must go through an appeal process to seek approval for a student to work that employment position. The appeal is only good for the current academic year. Each year the appeal process needs to be re-completed to hire students without a job award.

If there is room in the student's financial aid budget to increase their student employment award amount to allow for these hours, this will automatically be done. If that is not a possibility however, the employment position will be classified and paid as a payroll position.

It is important to be aware of the hours you are working to ensure you earn the full amount of your award and do not exceed your awarded amount. It is the student's responsibility to monitor their earnings. To assist you, there is a schedule in the Appendix.

Section 3: Employment Policies and Practices

Hiring Process for Student Employment Positions (Supervisors)

Posting Student Employment Positions: There are some variations in the application and selection process between departments and organizations. The search for prospective student employees starts with contacting the Student Employment Coordinator to post the job on the Student Employment Website. Student employees are typically selected on the basis of their availability and qualifications. Additional criteria may include course work completed, prior experience, specific skills, the ability to lift or carry certain weights, and a willingness to work in particular environments.

Interviewing Student Employment Positions: Illinois Wesleyan University does not place students in positions. Students are responsible to seek student employment positions and interview on their own. A student may conduct multiple interviews and be offered jobs from more than one department; in this instance, the student would have the opportunity to choose the job, which the student considers to be the best fit.

Selecting/Hiring Student Workers: Priority should be given to those students with a job opportunity awarded in their financial aid package. Please expect that all positions will require some training on the supervisor's part. As choices are being made, please check with the Student Employment Office to make sure all paperwork has been received and if the student is eligible to work. Once your positions are full, please contact the Student Employment Coordinator to remove your job posting from the website.

Notes:

- It may be possible that students who qualified for work-study one year may not be eligible the following year, so please don't assume employment is guaranteed from one year to the next. Students can verify if they have a job awarded in their Banner Self-Service > Financial Aid > Award Information. Supervisors, you may be notified that some of your hired students are no longer eligible and you will need to hire another student or advertise your available position on the job website.
- In some cases a student will be requested by more than one employer. Since the policy is only one full-time position, the student will be contacted to make a choice between jobs or be notified they will need to split their hours between the two positions. In other cases, a student may be requested to work in a position that may be considered specialized, meaning the student has skills and qualifications necessary to fill the position that not everyone else may have. In the event this happens, the supervisor will be notified that an appeal is necessary. Please refer to the Appeal Process section below for more information.

Appeal Process (Supervisors)

There are a few situations that may warrant an appeal from the supervisor to get a student approved for hire in your area.

1) The student requested does not have work-study eligibility.

As previously stated, students with financial aid job eligibility always take priority over students who do not have a job need. Students with work-study in their financial aid package use those funds as a means of payment toward university charges on their account. Since jobs are limited on campus, we try our best to make sure that students with work-study eligibility are provided with the opportunity to work.

2) The student requested is a Resident Assistant or Food Service Student Manager.

Students who choose to accept either of these positions are paid differently than if they were on the work-study program. Due to this, students in these positions aren't typically allowed to work anywhere else which frees up jobs for students with work-study eligibility.

3) The student requested is already holding a work-study position.

Students are limited to one full-time position, or two positions that make full-time between the both of them, as that is all they need to earn the full amount of the work-study award included as part of their financial aid package.

Departments requesting students in one of the above situations typically will need to submit a letter of appeal that the Student Employment Advisory Committee will review for approval of hire. A copy of the appeal form is located in the Appendix or you may request an appeal form from the Student Employment Coordinator.

All positions must be advertised to work-study students the following school year.

Scheduling

Most offices operate within the official business hours of the university, which are 8:00 a.m.- 4:30 p.m. However, some departments require student employees to work during the weekend, vacation breaks and evening hours. Work hours must be scheduled so that they will not conflict with a student's academic classes or responsibilities. A work week is Sunday to Saturday. No student may work for more than 8 hours a day, or 20 hours a work week when school is in session.

May, June, July, August Employment

If a student works during any of IWU's Summer Terms, the employment is classified as a payroll position and paid the Illinois minimum wage ($15.00 per hour). Available positions will be posted on the student employment website <https://www.iwu.edu/financial-aid/jobs/all/> starting in late March.

- FICA taxes are paid/withheld.
- International students who graduate in the spring and want to work during May term must have permission from the International Office, as their visa may not allow them to do work past the last day of the academic calendar.
- Student workers must be a current student, in good standing and be returning for classes in the following fall semester, to be eligible to work.
- A student that wants to live in the residence halls, will be required to pay housing and food costs, and must contact the Office of Residential Life to apply for housing.
- Students may work a maximum of 29 hours per work week (Sunday-Saturday) in May and August (to the Sunday before classes begin).
- Students may work a maximum of 37.5 hours per work week (Sunday-Saturday) in June and July (same as staff employees).
- Student workers are required to take a 30 minute lunch break if working over 7 hours and it must be reflected on the timesheet (i.e. students are to clock out for breaks and clock back in upon returning).
- Students who work in May will be paid June 10th, please contact the Business Office if you will not be on campus to pick up your paycheck and are not set up for direct deposit. Students will be paid bi-weekly in June, July and the beginning of August. A copy of the payroll calendar is in the Appendix and on the Business Office website under Payroll Calendars and Deadlines.
- Students must have proper supervision, so working from home or away from campus is prohibited.
- Summer Research Students are handled differently, but still must have employment forms on file before they can work or be compensated.
- Non-students (students who are not enrolled as full-time students for classes in the fall) must be processed by HR to work. The request link is on the HR website.

Holiday and Break Employment

Due to security and housing issues, there are minimal opportunities to work on campus during designated holidays and breaks. A student must be authorized by their supervisor and the Office of Residential Life to work during any of these times and the pay rate is the same as during the academic year.

Students are paid only for hours worked. Like all non-exempt employees, student workers are not paid for their lunch break and it is to be reflected in their timesheet. Students do not receive additional pay for working holidays or weekends, and are not eligible for benefits.

Confidentiality

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a Federal law that protects the privacy of student education records. The law applies to all schools that receive funds under an applicable program of the U.S. Department of Education. Because of the nature of the work performed by offices on campus, files may contain educational and confidential personal information. Under no circumstances are codes, the contents of office files or overheard discussions to be shared or used outside the departments. Neither should duplicates be made for non-office purposes. Extreme caution is taken when discarding documents that contain confidential information. The nature of some documents will require that they be shredded before being discarded. Violating the confidentiality policy could result in immediate termination.

Breaks

Workers will be permitted to take a 20 minute unpaid break no later than 5 hours after the start of your shift if you are required to work for 7 continuous hours or longer. This should be reflected on the worker's timesheet.

Illness/ Injury Policy

Students who are unable to work for an extended period due to illness or injury must inform their supervisor and the Student Employment Program Coordinator immediately. There are no paid benefits for these situations.

Warning and Termination Process

Violations of the expectations and standards for employment policies and practices will be documented and may result in giving a student a warning. The purpose of the warning (verbal or written) is to share with student employees the importance of the violated policies and to allow student employees time to adjust their behavior and hopefully reverse a potential termination. A sample warning form is located in the Appendix.

Student employment is considered "at will." Termination may occur for the following reasons: not meeting the academic requirements (enrollment is less than the minimum credit hours or academic withdrawal from courses), resignation by the student, staff/budget reduction, policy violations, or incompetence.

The termination policy of the Student Employment Program involves two areas: resignation and termination. In either case, you should discuss your situation with your supervisor and the Student Employment Program Coordinator, if necessary.

Resignation

Most supervisors hope that student workers will remain in their employment position throughout the academic year. However, changes in class schedule, academic pressures, or other factors may make such a commitment impossible. Academic concerns seem to be the most frequent reason students quit their employment positions. You must maintain satisfactory academic progress (SAP) to receive financial aid, including student employment. If you begin to fall behind in your studies, consult your supervisor and/or your academic advisor to determine how you can reverse this trend. If you decide that both working and performing well in your classes is not possible and you want to resign from your employment position, you may end your employment using the following procedure:

- 1) Inform your supervisor and give at least one week notice of your final workday.
- 2) Notify the Student Employment Coordinator.

Termination

If your supervisor is not satisfied with your performance, he or she is encouraged to discuss the concerns with you and to specify a period of time in which you are expected to improve. If you are unable to meet the supervisor's expectations, you may anticipate being terminated. Supervisors are encouraged to provide both a verbal and written warning to the student before terminating them.

Acts of serious misconduct will not be tolerated and may result in an immediate release from employment. Reasons for immediate termination of a student may include, but are not limited to the following:

- Breach of confidentiality
- Repeated absences without notification to the supervisor
- Willful, deliberate, or negligent acts that cause serious disruption in the continuity, efficiency, or safety of the department
- Fraudulent reporting of hours worked (Deliberate falsification of hours or other employment records may be considered a federal offense and is punishable by law)
- The unauthorized possession, distribution, use of, or being under the influence of alcohol, marijuana, or other non-prescription drugs or controlled substances during working hours
- Theft of university property or the personal property of a student, staff, or faculty member
- Harassment
- Serious disregard of university rules
- Gross incompetence
- Insubordination or refusal to perform assigned tasks

Terminations will be reported to the Student Employment Program Coordinator and may be reviewed by the Student Employment Advisory Committee. Depending on the severity of the circumstances surrounding the termination, you may lose your privilege to participate in the Student Employment Program for the rest of the academic year or permanently. Notice of termination will be kept in your permanent student employment file in the Financial Aid Office.

You have a great deal of control over your performance at your employment position. Communication is the key to employment success as well as a good relationship with your supervisor. Your performance may rest on your understanding of tasks, rules, and expectations. When in doubt, ask your supervisor for clarification, information, expectations, and procedures. Appropriate behavior, attitude, time management, and communication with your supervisor will assist you in maintaining your campus employment position and a good employment history.

Academic Progress Policy

To insure that federal, state, and university funds are used as efficiently as possible, policies have been established that require a financial aid recipient to progress toward a degree within a reasonable period of time. A student's progress is monitored for all periods of enrollment regardless of whether or not he or she is receiving financial aid for that same period. All students are required to meet Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) standards. The SAP policy can be found online under the Consumer Disclosure section or in the IWU Course Catalog.

Student Employee Evaluations

Continuous feedback is an important part of the IWU's Student Employment Program. It provides supervisors and students with opportunities to improve their work experiences and influence their work environments. Supervisors should see that student employees receive and review a thorough job description upon hire to understand what is expected of them.

Evaluations should be reviewed with student workers as a way of giving feedback and constructive criticism. This can help them understand their strengths and weaknesses and develop appropriate work habits and attitudes. Together with ongoing feedback, the evaluation is one of the most important elements in a meaningful work experience for students. Performance evaluations will take place upon the end of employment for each student employment position and turned in to the Student Employment Coordinator. Students should ask their supervisors for a copy of their evaluation for their personal files.

Student Worker Rights and Responsibilities

- A student employee at Illinois Wesleyan University with an employment award in his/her financial aid package must be a full-time student enrolled in a degree-granting program at the university, in good academic and financial standing, and making satisfactory academic progress toward the completion of a degree. You are responsible to uphold these requirements.

- You have the responsibility of completing all required paperwork and must have possession of a valid social security number. You will not be authorized to begin work until you have completed the federal and state W-4 forms and I-9 form.
- You have the right to know what is expected of you at your position, including but not limited to: who to report to, what tasks to perform and how to perform them, if you are performing your assigned tasks adequately, how to improve your performance, and what procedures you must follow. Your supervisor will give you the details of your specific work duties. The quality of your work will determine your chances of maintaining your employment position. Always give your best effort.
- You are responsible to carry out the work duties assigned to you at your student employment position. Homework, studying or any other non-work or personal activity should be done on your own time. Computers, copiers, and other office equipment and supplies, are for work assignments only and not for personal use. Personal phone calls, including calls on your personal cell phone as well as texting, are discouraged. When assigned tasks are completed, consult your supervisor for your next assignment.
- You have the responsibility to inform your supervisor as soon as possible if you are unable to work your scheduled hours for any reason.
- You are responsible for working and tracking the appropriate number of hours if you intend to earn your full employment award amount. If you are ahead or behind on the amount you should be earning, you may want to talk to your supervisor about adjusting the number of hours you are scheduled to work. While supervisors are not required to assign make-up hours, they may allow you to work extra hours to catch up if there is work available to do so.
- You have the right to be paid for hours actually worked. You are not eligible for sick, vacation or holiday pay, snow days, meal times, unemployment benefits or other fringe benefits. In order to protect the employee, the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act prohibits employers from accepting volunteer hours from any employee they have hired for pay.
- You are responsible for clocking in and clocking out using Web Time Entry (WTE). Instructions on using WTE can be found here or on the Student Employment website. You are responsible for submitting your timesheet electronically in a timely manner (by the due date/time) to allow your supervisor to approve your hours worked prior to the deadline.
- Acceptance of your student employment award carries all the responsibilities and commitments as in any other employment situation. It is your responsibility to follow rules set by the department supervisor that has hired you. This may include dress code, confidentiality, behavior, and public image. You are expected to be dependable, dress appropriately, be considerate and respectful of your employer and co-workers, and take your employment position seriously and perform at the highest level of your ability.
- It is your responsibility to report all accidents to your immediate supervisor or the supervisory person in charge at the time, as well as the Human Resources Office.

- You are considered an “at-will” employee. This means that you and/or your employer have the right to terminate or not continue your employment at any time. It is courteous to give proper notice of termination to the employer, usually defined as a two weeks’ notice. The Student Employment Program Coordinator is available to listen and intercede if you feel it is necessary, however, the supervisor and student must first attempt to work out any problems that may arise.

2025-2026 FWS Student Employment Hours

Monthly Schedule

Remember that these totals are based on gross earnings and only an estimate.

The estimated monthly hours schedule is listed below for the 2025-2026 academic year. This schedule is provided to give students an estimate of the number of hours they should work each month to meet the awarded amount by the end of the academic year. (Amounts are based on a $2400 award. Please divide amounts in half, for a $1200 award.). Also, if a student is working more than one position, the “hours available to work” is the combined hours of all jobs. Although students may be working, the schedule below does not include: weekends, holidays, or breaks. Holiday pay is not eligible if a student chooses to work during these times, they will be paid their regular hourly rate.

If a student starts his or her employment position a few days before or after the semester begins, they may have to adjust their hours at some point in the year to reach the gross employment award that has been offered and not exceed it. It is important for each student to remember that it is the student’s responsibility to keep track of their hours worked and earnings.

MONTH (# of days)	Estimated Hours Available to Work	Estimated Gross Earnings for Month	Estimated Total Earnings at End of Month
FALL SEMESTER	94 * $12.75/hr		$1200
August	6.75	$86	$86 (7%)
September	28	$357	$443 (37%)
October	29.5	$376	$819 (68%)
November	22.75	$290	$1109 (93%)
December	7	$89	$1198 (100%)
SPRING SEMESTER	94 * $12.75/hr		$1200 / $2400
January	22.75	$290	$290 (24%) / $1488
February	27	$344	$634 (53%) / $1832
March	22.75	$290	$924 (77%) / $2122
April	21.5	$274	$1198 (100%) / $2396
TOTAL	188		$2396

The above chart is based on students earning $12.75 per hour for the fall semester and spring semester when classes are in session, and does not include Reading Day or Final Exam Days.

Based on the numbers above, students can work approximately 6-6.75 hours per week for the 2025-2026 school year.

STUDENT EMPLOYMENT DAYS AVAILABLE TO WORK

For 2025-2026, the weeks for student employment should be divided as follows:

1st Semester		2nd Semester
August	1	January	3.5
September	4.5	February	4
October	4.5	March	3.5
November	3.5	April	3.5
December	1	Subtotal:	14.5
Subtotal:	14.5
Total weeks to work:	29

There are 140 weekdays available to work 188 hours. The days have been calculated as follows, days that are not included are in parentheses:

1st Semester – 94 hours
August	5
September	21	(Labor Day – 1)
October	22	(Fall Break – 1)
November	17	(Thanksgiving Break – 3)
December	5	(Winter Break & Campus Closure – 13)
Subtotal:	70 days
2nd Semester – 94 hours
January	17	(Winter Break & Campus Closure cont'd & MLK Jr. Day – 4)
February	20
March	17	(Spring Break – 5)
April	16
Subtotal:	70 days

Additional Notes:

1st Semester: Classes begin August 25, 2025 and Finals end December 12, 2025

2nd Semester: Classes begin January 7, 2026 and Finals end April 29, 2026

- Students can, but are not required to, work during Reading Day or finals week for both first and second semester, so these dates are NOT included in the calculations.
- The days listed above do NOT take into consideration the availability of weekend hours in some departments.
- You can determine the total number of hours you can work per week by taking your award $ amount divided by wage rate, $12.75 per hour, then divide by the number of weeks in the semester. This is about 6-6.5 hours per week.
- Keep in mind, this is only an estimate to help in planning. Once the maximum award amount has been met, the student is no longer eligible for work-study for the year.
