Who Are You Becoming?

Scott Dotson helps audiences recognize that life is not merely a series of events—it is a series of opportunities that shape character, deepen faith, and create lives of meaning and purpose.

“

“It isn’t often you find a book where the references move first to Napoleon Hill’s 1937 best seller Think and Grow Rich, and then move to David Foster Wallace’s Kenyon Graduation Address, Buddha, The Bible, M. Scott Peck, and Tiger Woods and Aristotle. And that’s just in the first chapter.”

— Byron Nahser

Foreword Author, Par for the Soul

Life is a series of opportunities.
Every one of them shapes who you become.

Drawing from forty years studying excellence, forty years playing golf, and a lifetime of spiritual discovery, Scott shows how every opportunity can become a step toward greater purpose, stronger character, and a life that reflects Christ.

GOLF IS THE CLASSROOM. BECOMING IS THE CURRICULUM. THE SPIRIT IS THE TEACHER.

ABOUT SCOTT

After forty years studying what makes people exceptional—and forty years playing golf—Scott Dotson discovered something unexpected:

Every virtue we hope to develop in life is tested on a golf course.

PATIENCE • HUMILITY • INTEGRITY • PERSEVERANCE • COURAGE

Golf became the laboratory where Scott discovered that life's greatest lessons are not about improving a score, but about becoming the person God created us to be.

Scott is the author of Par for the Soul, published by Thomas Augustine Publishing with a foreword by Byron Nahser.
