

Human Rights Workshop

featuring IWU alumna and social justice advocate Charlene Carruthers

When: Sunday, September 7, 2014

Where: Young Main Lounge

Time: Noon to 4:30pm, beginning with a free lunch

Who: All students, faculty and staff

Register now by emailing enelsonw@iwu.edu.

Sponsored by Illinois Wesleyan University's Center for Human Rights and Social Justice

What are human rights? How are they defined? And how can they be realized? Through this workshop, participants will: better understand the human rights framework as outlined in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights; strengthen a passion for human rights; and develop a network of peers and campus allies for addressing human rights issues locally and globally. In addition to two plenary gatherings, participants will attend two sessions led by faculty, staff, students, and alumni whose topics include: health care, higher education, housing, immigration, indigeneity, slavery, torture, and white privilege.

ILLINOIS WESLEYAN
Knowledge and Wisdom