Note: By federal definition, degrees awarded between July 1 of one year and June 30 of the next are considered to have occurred in a given academic year. From 1995-96 through 2003-04, there were three times each year when a student could graduate; before that academic year, only two graduation dates per year were possible. In 2004-05, the University began to award degrees in December; currently, therefore, there are four graduation dates per academic year.
