Fourth Annual Undergraduate Philosophy Conference

March 30-31, 2007

Sponsored by Illinois Wesleyan University's Philosophy Club and Phi Sigma Tau
All events will be held in the Illinois Wesleyan University Hansen Student Center-2nd Floor Meeting Room.

Friday, March 30, 2007

4:00 p.m.  Keynote Address:
"The Myth of Multiple Realizability"
Professor John Heil, Washington University, St. Louis

6:00 p.m. Dinner and reception at Drs. Brown and Morris's home
(Directions provided after keynote address)

Saturday, March 31, 2007 (continued)

12:00-1:00 p.m.  Lunch Break

Session 3: Aileen Carroll, Organizer

1:00-3:00 p.m.
"Affective Appraisals and Concern-Based Construals: A New Process Theory of Emotion"
Aaron Walter, Valparaiso University
Commentator: Kathryn Sentman

"Does Anomalous Monism Have Explanatory Force?"
Andrew Wong, Washington University, St. Louis
Commentator: Adam Simon

"The Non-empirical Aspects of String Theory"
Quincy Washa, Virginia Military Institute
Commentator: Nick Timme

Session 1: Laura Arnold, Organizer

9:00-10:20 a.m.
"Against After Capitalism: A Defense of Capitalism"
Esteban Juarez, Jr., Loyola University
Commentator: Kari Irwin

"Porphyry's: Ancient Vegetarianism on Secular Argument"
Robert Paulsen, Illinois State University
Commentator: Vicky Johnson

Session 2: Anna Bromaghim, Organizer

10:30-11:50 a.m.
"Why the Consequentialist Would Not Push the Fat Guy"
Kenneth Silver, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill
Commentator: Adam Wentland

"Moral Pluralism and Moral Realism"
Jerry Green, Ohio University
Commentator: Josh Clouse