

Nina DeBoni's Bio:

Hi. My name is Nina DeBoni (they/them) and I am a junior transfer student to IWU studying English-Writing with a minor in political science. Writing is my passion and I'll do my best to help you at least enjoy it.

I like being a writing center tutor because writing is such a wonderful form of expression that should be accessible to everyone, no matter the extent of their linguistic knowledge. I particularly enjoy assignments that explore interesting and in-depth topics, rhetorically analyze literary works, create investment for writers/ students, and/or pertain to LGBT+ topics.

I am familiar with both MLA and APA citation styles and trained in how to be a tutor for a year before coming to Illinois Wesleyan.
